Introduction

The Florence School of Regulation (FSR) and Perusahaan Gas Negara (PGN) have been cooperating since 2015, by engaging in research on topics of common interest and exchanging views on how to address specific regulatory and policy issues relating to gas markets.

This workshop aims to present the main mutual activities of FSR and PGN, and explore areas of further cooperation. In particular, PGN will give an overview of the current developments in the Indonesian gas market, while FSR will present the main activities carried out by FSR Gas and other areas of potential interest. PGN will be provided with an overview of the recent initiatives in terms of research, training and policy debates, in order to explore and discuss potential cooperation and future partnerships. The findings of the very recent FSR Research Project “Definition of a Roadmap for the Establishment of a Gas Transportation National Dispatching Centre in Indonesia” will be presented. The workshop will conclude with an open discussion on how to consolidate the cooperation between FSR and PGN to address future challenges and to successfully solve them.
