

Energy Union Law Donors

The FSR Energy Union Law Area receives generous funding from law firms, economic consultancy firms, energy companies and other bodies representing stakeholders in the industry.

The support from donors is instrumental to the development of our dynamic approach to debate, training, and research. It has allowed us to combine academic competence with an acute knowledge of the current regulatory issues, to create a platform for innovative and independent discussion and practice-sharing, and offer opportunities for close interaction with the key stakeholders of the energy industry at various locations across Europe, including Florence, Brussels, Athens, and Vienna.

2020 annual contribution: €8,800

As a Donor to the area, you may:

- propose topics to be discussed at workshops
- host our workshops and trainings
- send delegates to the workshops
- avail of extensive networking opportunities with
- some of the key players in the field
- participate in all of our workshops and events (free of charge)
- access our trainings (at discounted rates)
- participate in all activities relating to the area.
